educated in the schools at Manila and is a rancher; Miss Mildred, born February 13, 1914, attended the Manila High School; William Everett, born May 24, 1917, Delbert, born July 29, 1919, Bonnie Bess, born July 29, 1926, and Darrell, born August 17, 1928.

H. CLAY CUMMINGS resides in his native City of Heber, judicial center of Wasatch County, and is not only one of the progressive representatives of ranch industry in the county but also has the distinction of being at the time of this writing, in 1932, the mayor of Heber, this official preferment standing in evidence of the high popular estimate placed upon him in the community in which he was born and reared and in which he is giving fine account for himself as a loyal and liberal citizen.

Mr. Cummings was born at Heber on the 11th of December, 1894, and is a son of Edward J. and Hannah M. (Clegg) Cummings, the former of whom was one of the first white children born in the Heber Valley, where his parents were among the earliest settlers and where his birth occurred in 1863, his wife, Hannah M., having been born at Springville, Utah County, in 1870. Edward J. Cummings long held precedence as one of the substantial stock growers of the Heber district, was likewise interested in banking and mercantile enterprise. He gave twelve years of service as a member of the Board of County Commissioners and was a member of the City Council of Heber several terms, besides which he was a liberal supporter of the Church of Latter Day Saints.

After completing his studies in the high school at Heber, H. Clay Cummings was a student in the Utah State Agricultural College. In 1914 he initiated his service on a mission of thirty months in the northern states, in the interests of the Church of Latter Day Saints, and he then returned to Utah and identified himself with industrial affairs in his native county. There came to him the call of higher duty when the nation became involved in the World war, and he was among the first from Wasatch County to enlist for service in the United States Army. He enlisted in 1917 and was assigned to the One Hundred Forty-fifth Field Artillery, and in February, 1918, he was transferred to the Officers Training School at Jackson, South Carolina, where he became a member of the Aviation Corps. Later he was in service with the Air Corps at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and eventually he attended the Air Gunners School at Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Michigan. His unit was not called to overseas service and he received his honorable discharge December 23, 1918, somewhat more than a month after the armistice had brought the great war to a close. Since his return to his native county Mr. Cummings has continued to be successfully associated with progressive ranch enterprise, with special attention given to the growing of sheep.

Mr. Cummings has continued active and influential in the affairs of the Church of Latter Day Saints, and in behalf of the church he served in 1925 a short-term mission in the eastern states. November 26, 1926, he was ordained bishop of the Second Ward of the Wasatch Stake, and March 11, 1928, he was made first

Mr. Cummings has continued to take deep interest in his World war comrades, and in 1923-24 he served as commander of Post No. 23, American Legion, at Heber. He gave also four years of service as captain of the local organization of Sons and Daughters of Indian War Veterans, and in 1927 he was elected mayor of Heber, his effective administration of municipal affairs having led to his reelection in 1929. He is an active and valued member of the Heber Chamber of Commerce and the local Lions Club, and is a member of the board of trustees of the Wasatch County Public Library.

On the 26th of January, 1918, Mr. Cummings was united in marriage to Miss Ruby Nielson, daughter of Peter E. and Emma Nielson, of Preston, Idaho, and the children of this union are four in number: Veigh X., Kyle E., Melvin and Clay.

She put her hand on his head and said, "Bless you, honey, some day you will be the President." This virtually came to pass and started with a call to be bishop of the Heber Second Ward in 1926. Eighteen months later he became first counselor in the Presidency of Wasatch Stake and served for ten years.

H. Clay with his sons

Kyle, Veigh and Melvin.

On September 5, 1937, he was sustained as President of Wasatch Stake. For twenty one and a half years he consecrated his life to the service of his people. Their love was manifest for him at a testimonial held on July 29, 1954 in the Stake Tabernacle. The story of his life was depicted through music and films and many of the local saints paid tribute to his wife, his family and himself.

President Henry D. Moyle said on this occasion, "We have grown, in recent years, to look upon him as the Dean of the Stake Presidents of the Church, and to have, I was going to say, just as deepseated regard for him as you people who have had the privilege of living here in Wasatch Stake with him."

He was born on December 11, 1894 at Heber City, Utah, the son of Elisha Jones and Hannah Mary Clegg Cummings. He grew up in and followed the livestock industry. He was a naturalist and enjoyed the mountains, streams, and hills.

At the age of eighteen years he was called to fill a mission to the Northern States. Upon his return he registered at Utah State Agricultural College, where he met a girl from Preston, Idaho. A happy courtship was climaxed by marriage to Emma Ruby Nielson on January 26, 1918. To them were born six children, Yvonne, Veigh, Kyle, Melvin, EJay and LaVell.

His next assignment came on November 11, 1925 when he was called to fill a six months mission to the Eastern States.

During World War I he enlisted and joined Utah's own 145th Field Artillery Unit. He was transferred to the United States Air Force and sent to California for intensive training. He became a Lieutenant and pilot and served until the end of the war.

He was elected Mayor of Heber City four times and served in this office from 1928 to 1935. He was elected to the office of County Commissioner and served four years, from 1936 to 1939 inclusive.

He served as director and president in various business enterprises, was a member of the Forest Advisory Board, chairman of the Bureau of Land Management Advisory Board for fifteen years, director of the Utah Valley Hospital during its construction, director of the Utah State Wool Growers and a member of the Board of Directors of the Deer Creek Reservoir during the construction of the dam.

He played an important role in the establishment of the Wasatch Mountain State Park, and then was called by the Church to fill a mission at the Hawaiian Temple grounds. Later he was called to serve at the New Zealand Temple bureau of information and in 1961 was appointed president of the New Zealand Mission of the Church. He returned home in the summer of 1962 to become the first superintendent of the Wasatch Mountain State Park, and only a few days after the appointment was stricken with a heart attack and died on July 4, 1962.

a Dr. Eyliff had come from Salt Lake City to spread the Methodist cause and conduct meetings. However, there was little response to his message and this only non-LDS venture in the valley collapsed. Members of the Second Ward bought the land, while members of the Center Creek Ward purchased the building and moved it to their community.

With property now available, Bishop Rasband called a group of brethren in the fall of 1913 to take their teams into Strawberry Valley and obtain lumber for the proposed building project. It was late in the fall when they got started, and they worked waist-deep in the snow at times, but stayed on the job until they had enough lumber to build forms for the foundation of the building.

equipment available to them, but it was limited in many ways. In 1888, about a year before Heber was organized as a township, William Buys, Wasatch County surveyor, checked the city and found it was "crooked."

His field notes record an entry on June 12, 1888 as follows:

"Made a preliminary survey of Main Street and the street running East and West North of Public Square known as Bk. 90.

"Find that the streets do not run at right angles.

"Find that the blocks by actual measurement overrun."
